“ Il fait toujours beau au-dessus des nuages ”

Zaho de Sagazan - La symphonie des éclairs

The symphony of Saint-Nazaire

There are some towns that we all know even without knowing them, without ever having set foot in them. Just speaking their names sets off a showreel of images in our minds.

Saint-Nazaire is one such town: we know it even before we've arrived. And while sometimes the pictures are better than reality, here it's the opposite: reality surpasses any images you might have seen.

Visiting the town and Brière wetlands means taking an unexpected journey, exploring a land of a thousand facets: urban and seaside, spectacular yet intimate, historic and innovative, industrial yet also bucolic. To come to Saint-Nazaire and the Brière wetlands is to see further, to go beyond first appearances. It means breaking through the clouds just as light does; it means daring to cross to the other side of the mirror.

It is, in a word, stunning.

Sea surf & sun

What's a seaside holiday all about? In summer, it's the sun that caresses your skin, the warm sand underfoot, children laughing as they play with wooden games, the sweet smell of a caramel pancake, the paddleboard that glides over the water... In winter, it's the ocean spray on your face, a breath of fresh sea air, the pastel colours in the late afternoon, walks wrapped up warm on the seafront. In Saint-Nazaire, you can enjoy the sea all year round!

Scoop

1, 2, 3 beaches? No, Saint-Nazaire boasts 20 beaches and creeks, and 15 kilometres of coastline, traced by the famous GR® 34 coastal path, named The Customs Officers' Trail.

Top 3 Beaches

1 Grande plage

Wooden games, smart sunloungers in summer, and the Place du Commando just nearby where you can enjoy a crêpe or waffle with salted-butter caramel!

2 Plage de la Courance

There's nothing like the joys of watersports, with skimboards, paddleboards and wingfoils... surf's up, ace!!

3 Plage de Porcé

A creek nestled in greenery, for a deep breath of fresh air, summer or winter.

Drink in that view...

Sous les palmiers, la plage

This is one of Saint-Nazaire's oldest bistros, now a cultural bar offering vegetarian lunches, exhibitions, concerts and games for youngsters.

Le bar iodé

An incredible view over the Loire estuary, dishes bursting with seaside flavour, seafood, fish, and an original speciality: lobster burgers.

Le Transat

Between the seafront and the Jardin des Plantes, this bar-restaurant offers great views, and a menu of generous dishes that are colourful and irresistible!

Match

Do you want to meet a legend?

A middle-aged man, funny yet also discreet, an occasional smoker, he loves tennis and holidays by the sea. The man in the hat is easy to find in the seaside district of Saint-Marc-sur-Mer. He comes from a famous French film by Jacques Tati, called «Monsieur Hulot's Holiday» and has been immortalised as a statue by Emmanuel Debarre. Nowadays, this iconic character watches over the beach named after him: la Plage de Monsieur Hulot!

Fishing on stilts

No waders required

Nothing fishy going on here, just the chance to enjoy an unforgettable experience. These traditional fishing cabins on stilts, made of wood or steel, are icons of the Loire estuary landscape, and you can rent one. Try it out and see what the tide brings in!

An architect excellent town

Awarded the 'City of Art & History' label, Saint-Nazaire offers a wealth of heritage treasures, surprising and often little-known. Discover, listen to and experience these sites that allow you to understand the past and present of this incredibly unique town.

VILLES & PAYS D'ART & D'HISTOIRE

Is this Cuba?

With its colourful facades and exotic street names, The Havana district is right near the sea, inviting you to cross the Atlantic and the decades back to the Belle Époque, when transatlantic ships sailed as far as Cuba.

Reconstruction

After World War Two, Saint-Nazaire became a vast construction site. A bold new urban development plan was rolled out, moving the city centre away from the port so both could expand. Saint-Nazaire began its architectural reconstruction.

Did you know?

The Saint-Nazaire bridge

With its elegant curve, its cables and its red-and-white colourway, this is France's longest bridge, connecting the two banks of the Loire estuary: 3,356 m between Saint-Nazaire and Saint-Brevin.

The raising plant

This remarkable brick building is a raising plant, and for 80 years it regulated the water level in the basins thanks to powerful machines that are still visible today.

The Sammy

Inaugurated in 1926, The Sammy is an American monument, sculpted by the artist Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney to commemorate the arrival of American troops in Saint-Nazaire in 1917.

La Soucoupe Nazaire's historic flying object

Since 1970, La Soucoupe has been an icon for sports in Saint-Nazaire but particularly for the creativity of its architects when the town was reconstructed. Shaped like a skullcap made of reinforced concrete, the 3,500-seat hall has welcomed French stars of yesteryear and continues to host cultural and sporting events.

The Market Halls Above the market

Inaugurated in 1958 and designed by the architect Claude Dommée, the market is an architectural feat dating from the town's post-war reconstruction. The roof arches of reinforced concrete are glazed, creating a series of up-and-down slopes with a modern design that also brings in swathes of light. The market halls are open in the morning on Tuesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Concrete information You can't miss it!

Built by the German army in just 16 months from 1941, the submarine base is a huge block, 300 metres long. A strategic element in the Battle of the Atlantic during World War Two, the base housed German U-Boats until 1945. From April to November, you can visit the base thanks to two different trails: a guided tour and a sensory tour.

In Saint-Nazaire port

The history of this port city links it to the present and simultaneously projects it into the future. To better understand its DNA but also what also makes it unique, you need to delve into the city's transatlantic history. Uncover its secrets through museums, visits and explorations that are both fun and immersive.

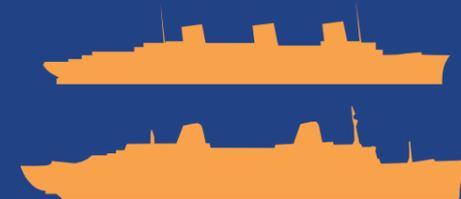

Vue sur le bassin de Saint-Nazaire vers 1900

Where it all began

Back in 1861, Saint-Nazaire's destiny changed forever. By becoming Nantes' outer port, then creating its first shipyards thanks to Scottish engineer John Scott, the town became a transatlantic port, and Brittany's 'little California' was born.

Escal'Atlantic is 25 years old!

Saint-Nazaire has a history of building legendary cruise liners, such as the Ile-de-France (1927), Normandie (1935) and France (1962). This legacy is presented through 200 artefacts on board Escal'Atlantic, a liner-museum that takes visitors through the adventure of ocean-crossing giants. Immerse yourself in cabins, decks and engine rooms, and even sample cocktails in the 1st-class bar of the France cruise liner.

✂ Behind the scenes

Don't miss this when you're in Saint-Nazaire! Take a guided tour of the three flagship sites of French industry, to the heart of exceptional expertise; shipbuilding at Chantiers de l'Atlantique, aircraft assembly at Airbus Atlantic and the organisation of the Grand Port Maritime, the top port on France's Atlantic coast.

All aboard the Espadon museum! Secret mission to the North Pole

The 77-metre-long Espadon was a French Navy submarine from the late 1950s, the first sub to dive under the ice pack for an experimental mission. This submarine museum has been totally restored to offer an immersive visit complete with audioguide available in 8 languages, and a tale especially designed for youngsters. It's the only one afloat in France!

Love boat Discovery cruises

From June to September, take your pick of boat trips on offer during the day, evening or night to enjoy a breathtaking view of Saint-Nazaire. It's a rare opportunity to see the town, its port, its wild and unspoilt coastline from a new perspective, and to get up close to the lighthouses or even France's first offshore wind farm!

Heritage Season Once upon a time...

Curious, passionate, young and old, whether you've lived here all your life or you're here for the day, Heritage Season surprises visitors through an urban journey with several stops, including visits, tours, concerts, games, exhibitions and workshops. This annual programme offers original events for a deeper understanding of Saint-Nazaire's heritage, but also an entirely fresh perspective.

Une ville qui ne manque pas d'art

In Saint-Nazaire, art and culture come in many forms. As you stroll through the town, you're immediately plunged into an ocean of materials, colours and places: murals, sculptures, exhibitions, contemporary art and more. This is an on-trend city, bursting with colour!

Estu-art?

Estuaire Nantes <> Saint-Nazaire is a permanent collection of 33 works of contemporary art. This open-air trail can be explored on foot, by bike or - in summer - on a boat trip. These three giant artworks are part of the landscape of Saint-Nazaire's port.

'Carte blanche'

For life in the pink

Melbourne, Lima, Detroit and São Paulo. These great cities of the world have something in common with Saint-Nazaire: street art created by internationally renowned artists.

Since 2015, the festival 'Les Escales' has invited painters and graffiti artists to create giant murals on city buildings, creating art where you least expect it.

Grand art

The 'Zones Portuaires' Festival

The maritime world and harbour cities are the focus of this film festival thanks to a programme of documentaries, dramas, meetings and workshops.

The VIP

In Saint-Nazaire, the submarine base is also a renowned stage for contemporary music, a hotspot for the latest gigs and a small location with a huge billing!

La P'tite Scène des Halles

This café and its little stage next to the market host a weekly varied programme based on theatre, stand-up comedy and concerts!

Very dramatic

Dating from 1867, this former train station was once the stage for a truly dramatic event. In 1943, American soldier Alan Magee fell over 6,000 metres from a burning bomber, with no parachute.

His life was saved by his clothes and the glass roof of the old station!

In 2012, the old station was given a makeover and became the Théâtre Simone Veil.

Nowadays, this national theatre hosts events all year round, from circus, dance and songs to youth workshops and classical recitals.

Bathing

Bain Public

Located in the town centre's former public baths, Bain Public welcomes artists in residence, giving space for creating and experimenting. Events are organised throughout the year so the public can bathe in the world of the artists and enjoy unique cultural experiences.

Gardeners' World

Saint-Nazaire is a seaside town with its feet firmly on the ground! As a garden city on the seaside, it offers countless pockets of nature, big and small. Parks, gardens and ponds unite green and blue in a dazzling local palette.

Special event dedicated to nature

This is the 3rd year of the Côté Nature event and some great events are on the programme, from astonishing plant decorations to petting zoos, from an eco-merry-go-round to plant sales, plus a dance hall, all in the heart of this landscaped park!

Parc paysager Landscaped gardens

Here's our very own Central Park - you don't have to cross the Atlantic! Its 25 hectares include playgrounds, picnic areas, and a pond with fun, experimental facilities. These public gardens are the town's green lungs, constantly changing and growing.

Bois Joalland

If you go down to the woods today...

At over 44 hectares, lake at Bois Joalland is the largest basin on the outskirts of town. Created in 1918 by the American army to supply the town with drinkable water, it offers a fabulous setting for sociable, fresh-air outings: 3 kilometres of trails, a watersports base for sailing and rowing, a 'pumptrack' challenge trail and a playground.

Botanic — Garden —

An oasis of tranquillity since 1887, the Jardin des Plantes on Saint-Nazaire seafront is home to more than 300 species, a hundred or so varieties of tree, a rose garden and an exceptional seafront location. Visits, exhibitions and concerts flourish here all year round.

Opposite the belvedere, this iconic café-restaurant showcases local produce and encourages encounters. True to its roots, the café welcomes birds of prey, visitors and locals alike, day and night.

Messing about on the river

On a flat-bottomed boat

The best way to explore the wetlands is in a chaland, the traditional, flat-bottomed boat that was once the main mode of transport within the Brière wetlands. Today, it enables you to discover the wetlands peacefully, admiring the beauty of the incredible plants and wildlife. In most of the Brière's little ports, you'll find chaland boaters ready to take you on board and tell you all about local history and traditions.

Brière's black gold

My precious!

Morta wood - sometimes nicknamed Brière ebony - is partly-fossilised oak, the remains of a vast forest that covered this region over 5,000 years ago. Craftspeople use this precious, dark wood to create unique pieces of jewellery, knives and sculptures. It's as if our story is forever engraved in this unique wood: morta.

Did you know..?

Here, we reveal certain stories... those that are whispered like secrets or - on the contrary - ones we shout to the skies. These juicy anecdotes add to the charm of our destination and give a better understanding of the area, while spicing up articles or reports!

Older than the pharaohs

A testament to Neolithic engineering, the Dissignac burial mound is one of the oldest but also most remarkable sites in the region. Built around 4300 BC by farming communities, this Neolithic tomb is actually older than Egypt's pyramids.

The lighthouse trail

When night falls, lighthouses and beacons light up all along the coast and offshore to guide the ships. Enjoy 'La route des phares', a guided boat trip that promises a magical experience deciphering the codes of nocturnal navigation, revealing a century of lights including Grand-Charpentier, Tour du Commerce and Kerlédé.

Smoke and mirrors!

Purely aesthetic, the 3rd chimney of the Normandie disguised its ventilation and propulsion systems. Another curious point is that the liner had onboard kennels so it could welcome 4-legged guests. In 2025: special 90th anniversary events.

Zaho de Sagazan A Saint-Nazaire storm

According to a famous French song, 'Il fait toujours beau au-dessus des nuages'. Its singer, Zaho de Sagazan is a musical phenomenon and she comes from Saint-Nazaire. Having won four 'Victoires de la Musique' awards and performed at the closing ceremony of the Paris 2024 Olympic Games, Zaho de Sagazan is certainly making a name for herself on the French music scene with her lyrics and her Symphonie des Éclairs. Her rendition of Edith Piaf's cult song 'Sous le ciel de Paris' (Under the Paris Sky) won over countless hearts, a well-deserved prize for this performer who blows everyone away. By sharing her love for her hometown of Saint-Nazaire, she has become one of its finest ambassadors. Yes, Zaho de Sagazan is STUNNING!

Mare aux oiseaux celebrates its 30th anniversary!

A renowned chef, owner of La Mare aux Oiseaux, an artist in his spare time, nature-lover and travel enthusiast. This Michelin-starred chef settled down on Fédrun island in Saint-Joachim to create a flavourful nest in the heart of the Brière Regional Nature Park: La Mare aux Oiseaux.

Ever since his teens, Éric Guérin has been interested in cooking. Thanks to his grandmothers, he became familiar with great flavours. He attended a renowned catering school in Paris and, at the age of 20, became Pierre Joxe's private chef at the Ministry of Defence. In 1995, he opened his own hotel-restaurant in Saint-Joachim, on Fédrun island. His cuisine combines the flavours of land and sea, even the wetlands. Eric Guérin makes it a point of honour to use local produce, the gems of the region. Brière is at the heart of his creations.

The chef's dishes are inspired by his own life, the landscapes and other cultures that he encounters on his travels. His culinary creative process also involves drawing: he draws his recipes before bringing them to edible reality!

As befits a true harbour town, Saint-Nazaire is open to the world. This land of freshwater and seawater, between the estuary and the ocean, Saint-Nazaire and Brière take you on a quest for emotion and authenticity, helping you to create beautiful memories.

It's the doorway that beckons you to travel.

Beyond the threshold, a unique human adventure awaits.

It's like an escape from boredom, as if you have the key to new lands (and seas), with the ocean spreading before you.
